The due dates are spaced evenly to allow students ample time to complete each successive assignment. However, it will be necessary for students to plan ahead and pace themselves so that adequate time is allotted for each assignment.
- If a student misses a due date, the assignment can still be submitted. However, there will be a 10% penalty for each assignment that is late. The professor reserves the right to increase this penalty in cases where a student demonstrates a pattern of late submissions. The absolute deadline to turn in your assignments is August 17, 2021. No assignments will be accepted after this date. No exceptions unless cleared beforehand with the professor.
- The professor does not discourage students from collaborating on assignments if working in study groups if this leads to a positive learning experience. However, all work submitted must be the individual student's own work, in the student's own words. In addition, students are expected to follow recognized rules governing the proper integration of outside material into a student's written work, including paraphrasing and the use of quotation marks and citations, so that there is a clear distinction between the student's writing and that of an outside author.
- Once a graded assignment is returned, the student should not discuss answers with other students who have not yet handed in the same assignment.
- It is also recommended that students check their messages at least once every other day (State any policies related to the course i.e. make-up exams, late assignments, incompletes, etc.
